THE EAGLE

1962

Again it becomes my pleasure to congratulate the senior class of New Edinburg High School, the annual staff and your sponsor, Miss Anita Knowles for the many hours of work on the yearbook for 1961-62.

I also wish to express appreciation to the most cooperative force I have ever been associated with, including the faculty, student body, cafeteria staff and building custodian. I continue to be impressed by the interest and cooperation of the patrons and all concerned in helping us achieve our aim of developing citizens who can shoulder the many responsibilities which rest upon us when we become adults.

I wish the best of everything for all of you, both during your formal education and throughout your life.

The Littlest Seedling . . .

. . . vibrant with new life . . . perfectly attuned to nature . . . stretching eagerly upward in response to the cosmic urge to develop and grow.

Nourished by sun and rain it will become a stately pine tree . . . one of many for perpetuating a great natural resource in Arkansas and the South.

The pine tree serves mankind in many, many ways to provide the high standard of living enjoyed by all of us. Remember, always, the stately pine—symbol of Southern progress and prosperity.

We are proud to be a part of the great lumber industry . . . wholly dependent upon The Littlest Seedling.
